Our World at CCC. . .

Coahoma County was among the first of the counties in Mississippi to provide agricultural high schools for Negroes. In 1924, County Superintendent P. F. Williams proposed the organization of a school system which would include a number of elementary and junior high schools and one central agricultural high school. Upon adoption of the proposal by the Board of Supervisors in that year, Coahoma County Agricultural High School was established.

Mr. M. L. Strange served as the first superintendent of Coahoma County Agricultural High School during the 1924-25 term. In the years which followed, four other men have headed the institution: Mr. J. H. Moseley, four years, Mr. J. W. Addison and Mr. J. B. Wright, eight years each, and Mr. B. F. McLaurin, 21 years.

The efforts to establish a junior college to serve basically a non-white clientele were enhanced by the all-around support of Mr. L. L. Bryson, who was superintendent of Coahoma County Schools during the formative years of the junior college.

Mr. B. F. McLaurin headed the Coahoma County Agricultural High School from 1945 until 1948. When the junior college program was added in 1949, he served as president of the newly founded junior college and as the superintendent of the high school until 1966. After the junior college was added, the name of the institution was changed to Coahoma Junior College and Agricultural High School.

The first three years of the college program were conducted by one full-time director-teacher, Mrs. Zee A. Barron, and a sufficient number of part-time teachers from the high school division. Three years later, a full-time Dean, Miss M. G. Whiteside, and the second full-time teacher, Mr. Frank Gambrell were employed.

Mr. J. E. Miller headed the institution from 1966 to 1979, and Miss Whiteside served as Dean until 1973.

Presently, Coahoma Junior College and Agricultural High School is under the leadership of President Dr. M. C. Martin, who deems it an honor to have the opportunity to follow the foot steps of such capable leaders as Mr. Moseby, Mr. Addison, Mr. Wright, Mr. McLaurin, Mr. Miller, Mrs. Barron, and Dean Whiteside. Aiding Dr. Martin in his leadership are three vice presidents—Dr. Vivian Presley, Mr. Charles Reid, and Mr. George Moore. Several deans head different departments

During its first year of operation Coahoma Junior College was supported entirely by county funds. The next year Coahoma Junior College became the first educational institution for Negroes to be included in the Mississippi System of Public Junior Colleges, and Legislature for the support of public junior colleges. Counties other than Coahoma that now support the college are Bolivar, Quitman, and Sunflower.

Since 1965, the institution has been open to all students without regard to race, color, or national origin.

Past achievements will always be a part of us; however, we must look beyond our present to the future.

The 20th century has been one of marvelous and awesome accomplishment. However wondrous the achievements thus far, our challenge is to look to the future and the possibilities it may hold—not only for the balance of this century but also for the 21st century that is just a short distance down the road.

"Moving into the 21st century" makes a catchy phrase. But will you be prepared for this new age?

Catchy phrases mean little without dynamic, progressive action to back them up. The first airplane, in the early days of this century.

Education can pave the way for you to take your place in the world of tomorrow and to be a part of the progress that is coming faster and faster. Whether our students go on to further university work, or whether they choose to take advantage of our many career training opportunities, their time at CJC, if spent wisely, can serve as a gateway to new knowledge and broader horizons.

Those who only sit and wait for the future may find, to their sorrow, that it has passed them by. Those who take the initiative and prepare themselves to go out and greet the future will be better positioned to meet its challenges and to take advantage of its opportunities.

The record shows that Coahoma Junior College and Agricultural High School students excel in all components of the school's program and in all walks of life-athletics, science, law, medicine, education, military, etc.

from Ecclesiastes

To every thing there is a season,
And a time to ever purpose under the heaven:
A time to be born, and a time to die;
A time to plant, and at time to pluck up that which is planted;
A time to kill, and a time to heal;
A time to break down, and a time to build up;
A time to weep, and a time to laugh;
A time to mourn, and a time to dance;
A time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together;
A time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing;
A time to get, and a time to lose;
A time to keep, and a time to cast away;
A time to rend, and a time to sew;
A time to keep silence, and a time to speak;
A time to love, and a time to hate;
A time to war, and a time of peace.

The Aggie

Coahoma Agricultural High School

Rte. 1, Box 616

Clarksdale, Mississippi 38614

1991

Our World at AHS . . .

Coahoma Agricultural High School is a beautiful scenic campus on the site of a junior college. Life for the students is a busy one. Their days are spent involved mostly with a most important activity — academics. Other hours are spent cheering, playing basketball, football, and baseball; marching in the band, clubs and organizations, and other extracurricular activities. One favorite activity which is without a doubt the most entertaining is the "Womanless Wedding." It inspires young men to mimic their preconceived ideas of how they see the female.

Coahoma Agricultural High School was established in 1924 for the purpose of training black youths in basic education, farm employment, domestic employment, and home making. Dormitory facilities were provided to accommodate students from across the state.

With a small faculty of less than fifteen, some of whom did not have a college degree, the faculty grew to more than forty — all having a college degree; more than half with master's; one with a specialist degree. The curriculum expanded from basic subject matter to a multi-discipline program.

There has been a continuous growth from 1924 to the present faculty, curriculum development, facilities, student activities, financial support, library facilities, student services, and teaching supplies and equipment.

Historically, life at Aggie has been one to boast about. Let's journey together. . .

Life for my child is simple, and is good.
He knows his wish. Yes, but that is not all.
Because I know mine too.
And we both want joy of undeep and unabiding things,
Like kicking over a chair or throwing blocks out of a window
Or tipping over an icebox pan
Or snatching down curtains or fingering an electric outlet
Or a journey or a friend or an illegal kiss.
No. There is more to it than that.
It is that he has never been afraid.
Rather, he reaches out and lo the chair falls with a beautiful crash,
And the blocks fall, down on the people's heads,
And the water comes sloshing sloppily out across the floor.
And so forth.
Not that success, for him, is sure, infallible.
But never has he been afraid to reach.
His lesions are legion.
But reaching is his rule.
